TAking a bite out of crime
How forensic dentistry helps to solve mysteries

Presented by
Mike Tabor, DDS, DABFO
Chief Forensic Odontologist
Office of the State Medical Examiner
State of Tennessee
Nashville, Tennessee

April 24, 2015

What really happened in the Ted Bundy case? What was it like to stand in the middle of a smoldering pile of rubble on 9-11-2001? Why would the Tennessee medical examiner order a dental ID exam on convicted murderer of Martin Luther King, James Earl Ray? How did forensic odontology help in the Lee Harvey Oswald/President John F. Kennedy mystery? What is it like to write a forensic dental novel based on the murder trial of a confessed killer, but NO ONE in the courtroom knew who the victim was?! How did you use dental information that every dental hygienist uses every day in their practice to solve the decade mystery of finally placing a name with a face? What can I do, as a dental hygienist to become more involved in this fascinating blend of dentistry and forensics? Ladies and gentlemen, this is CSI at its finest!

Dr. Mike Tabor has served as the Chief Forensic Odontologist for the State Medical Examiner’s office in Nashville, Tennessee since 1983. He has served as Present of the Tennessee Board of Dental Examiners, as well as President of the American Board of Forensic Odontology and the Section Chair for the Odontology Section of the American Academy of Forensic Science. He also serves as a senior consultant for the Criminal Investigations Division of the Tennessee Bureau of Investigation under its Medicaid Fraud Unit. He has recently been appointed to the faculty of the University of Tennessee College of Graduate Medicine as Assistant Professor of Dentistry. He has authored ‘Walk of Death’ a forensic novel. His second manuscript, ‘Out of the Darkness’ has been completed and submitted for edit and publication for anticipated release in 2015. He is currently working on his third forensic novel, ‘Grave Mistake’, all three of which are based on his true case file experiences.

Dr. Tabor will share many experiences from his dental forensics case files with nearly four decades of experience and thousands of ‘who is it’ mysteries solved. You will revisit the scars of Ground Zero, learn how a computer program helped put names with faces off nearly 1,000 souls from 83 different countries. He will teach you the basics of forensic identification and how dentistry compares with DNA and fingerprint ID’s. For those of you who are truly interested in the subject, you will be encouraged to check out the website of the American Society of Forensic Odontology, (asfo.org) the entry level for dental professionals in the forensic community.
Educator’s Workshop:
Educational Methods and Strategies for Didactic and Clinical Instruction

This workshop addresses the instructional challenges in teaching didactic and clinical skills to adult learners. A review of educational methods including educational domains, instructional objectives, learning styles, and teaching strategies will be included. Group discussion, problem solving and experiential activities will be part of the workshop process.

Goal: The Dental Instructor will improve their understanding of adult learners and apply teaching strategies relevant to didactic and clinical situations.

Objectives: Upon completion of the workshop participants will be able to:
- relate learning styles to teaching strategies
- explain educational domains of learning
- develop instructional objectives
- describe strategies for instructional delivery
- discuss ways to increase critical thinking
- create opportunities for self-directed learning
- use open ended questions
- use role plays to discuss faculty calibration

Joyce Turcotte, RDH, M.Ed., FAADH, is the Founder and President of Professional Learning Services, LLC, established in 1987. For over 35 years, Joyce has taught at universities and colleges and is currently an adjunct faculty at Nova SE University Dental School, Department of Periodontics, Davie, Florida. Her teaching experiences include clinical dental hygiene and educational methodology. Joyce is the recipient of the 2014 Mentor of Distinction award presented by Philips Oral Health Care and RDH magazine. She lectures nationally, teaches CPR and conducts a DH refresher course on an ongoing basis. Joyce served as President for the Connecticut Dental Hygiene Association and the American Academy of Dental Hygiene, where she achieved her Fellow in Education from the AADH. She is a consultant to corporations, private groups, and public speakers. Her M. Ed. degree from Temple University, focused on Psycho-educational Processes which is her area of expertise.

A 34 year dental hygienist, Sherri Lukes, RDH, MS, FAADH, has spent most of her professional career in academia. She is an associate professor emerita, Southern Illinois University Dental Hygiene Program, where she taught oral pathology, community oral health, multicultural dental hygiene and advanced periodontics clinic. Her research was concentrated in oral pathology, migrant farm worker oral health, and issues of other underserved groups. She serves as president of the Illinois Dental Hygienists’ Association and is a Pathology Fellow in the American Academy of Dental Hygiene. An AADH approved speaker, Sherri presents on topics within her areas of expertise at various meetings across the country. Community service projects include annual mission trips to central Mexico, where she provides oral health care in an orphanage and remote villages. She received Community Service, Teacher of the Year, and Research Paper of the Year awards while at SIU, was named an Oral Health Champion by the IFLOSS Coalition and Illinois Department of Public Health and was a recipient of the Sunstar/RDH Award of Distinction.
